

Surrender, Dorothy: Reviews

Seemed like a good idea at the time.

God bless the Australians. Frais hand sanitizer is seriously awesome.

The key ingredient that kills germs is sugarcane alcohol, and the other ingredients -- citrus peel oil, cardamom seed oil, and other essential oils, make it smell AMAZING.

Being used to Purell, the sanitizer felt a little sticky going on in the first few minutes, but then it soaked in like a lotion instead of evaporating off like typical hand sanitizers. I noticed my hands didn't feel dry after using it, though, so I overcame my initial squeamishness about a hand sanitizer feeling anything less than alcohol-y.

I have to say, this is one of the more shocking products that I've reviewed this year. I really thought all hand sanitizers were the same. This is great stuff.
