Frais Hand Sanitizer kills 99.9 percent of germs on contact RSS

(06/05/2009)

The Centers for Disease control says the most important way to prevent the transmission of dangerous diseases, including swine flu, is to frequently wash your hands with soap or use a hand sanitizer that contains at least 60 percent alcohol.

Frais Hand Sanitizer™ was created to add a moisturising and luxurious distinction to the smart practice of regular hand sanitising. The environmentally friendly formula of 66% pure sugarcane alcohol kills 99.9% of germs on contact and is blended with eight essential oils, which provide a natural aromatic sensation. The World Health Organisation, Centers for Disease Control and the Mayo Clinic certify that this concentration of alcohol kills 99.9% of the germs encountered in everyday life, as well as influenza, the common cold, tuberculosis, bird flu and MRSA Staph infections.

Safe to use on a daily basis, Frais is a great product for anyone to pop in their hand/man bag especially with the current infection threat from Swine Flu. It comes in both a 50ml container and a chic and convenient portable 6ml pocket size that helps you to feel protected wherever you go.

Dermatologist-approved, Frais is formulated with Les Huit™, a cocktail of eight natural essential oils that includes ginger, tangerine, lemon myrtle, niaouli, orange, basil, grapefruit and cardamom. This specially created Australian blend conjures uplifting thoughts and leaves hands pleasantly moisturised.

With an eco-friendly approach, Frais only uses high-grade, pure sugarcane alcohol, which is more energy efficient than alcohol derived from corn. In addition, Frais products are free from parabens, propylene glycol, petrochemical cleansers, ethoxylates, silicones, phthalates, mineral oils, DEA, sodium lauryl sulfate or other sulfates, artificial colors and artificial fragrances. Frais does not use animal ingredients or conduct animal testing and is certified by People for Ethical Treatment for Animals (PETA) as a cruelty free, vegan cosmetic producer.

"We have created a natural, moisturising, pleasant way for men and women to sanitise hands on the run. Frais can be carried conveniently in a handbag or briefcase and is handy to have in the car, at home or in the office," says Frais Managing Director Michael Davis-Smith.
