

Featured Articles

- Peter's New Book: Tough Times, Great Travels
- Eco-Travel Category
- America the Beautiful: Five Hidden National Parks
- Pirates of the Indian Ocean: Interview with Col. Jack Jacobs

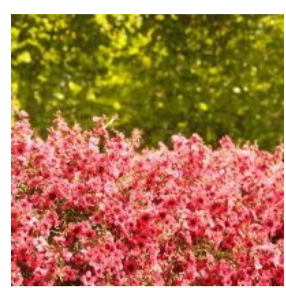

Categories

- Accessible Travel
- Adventure & Sports Travel
- Airlines & Airports
- Beach Vacations
- Budget Travel
- Business Travel
- Cruises
- Culinary & Food
- Culture
- Deals
- Destinations
- Driving & Car Rental
- Eco-Travel
- Forums
- Family Travel
- Gadgets & Gear
- Groups
- Grateful Traveler
- Health & Fitness
- Hotels & Accommodations
- Luxury Travel
- Off The Brochure(sm) Guides
- Pets & Travel
- Photography
- Safety & Security
- Senior Travel
- Shopping
- Trains
- Travel Insurance
- Travel Tips
- Videos
- Voluntourism
- Web Resource Links
- Women's Travel

Save Time, Money, and Travel Better with Peter's Daily Travel Tips

10 Useful New Green Travel Gadgets

Think green travel gadgets have to break the bank? Think again.

We've rounded up some eco-friendly gear and socially conscious companies that can also make your travel experiences a little easier.

Dara Bramson reports on her findings from the Green Products Expo in New York City and beyond:

SensorPlug

You may have heard that plugged-in electronics still drain energy even when they're not turned on—which means that even when you're on the road, your electrical bill is still mounting. To solve that problem, SensorPlug is a motion-activated electrical outlet that shuts off two to six minutes of sensing no motion and turns back on almost immediately upon movement. Available for $19.99 or two for $35, with free shipping in the US. www.sensorplug.com

Best Energy System Hybrid 1000 Solar Charger

If you want to forego electrical charging entirely, try out this solar charger works on most electronics such as phones, MP3 players and GPS units. For phones, one hour of sunshine typically equals 15 minutes of talk time using a battery that stores energy for up to one year. Each unit is $79.95 and weighs only 131 grams. www.solio.com

Verilux Satco LED Solar Rechargeable Flashlight

Campers can take advantage of this eco-friendly flashlight that has six LED lights and actually provides a wider beam than most conventional flashlights. Best of all, $1 of the $29.95 purchase is donated to the New Sudan Education Initiative, which works to install solar power in Sudanese schools. www.verilux.com

Fuji Enviromax

It doesn't take a scientist to realize that chucking used batteries into the trash can translate into an environmental nightmare. Fortunately, Fuji Enviromax batteries are PVC, cadmium and mercury-free, which means landfill-safe and eco-friendly. Batteries are available in AA, AAA, C, and D and are $3.99 for Super Alkaline and $5.99 for Digital Alkaline. www.greenfuji.com

Aspenware

If you're too lazy to wash but too guilty to waste, check out Aspenware's disposable, biodegradable wooden cutlery. Packs of 12 for knives, forks and spoons cost $3.99 each. Serious campers without a sink can also purchase a 250-pack for $45 or a 500-pack for $85. www.aspenware.ca

Filtered Water Bottles

Worried about water quality on your travels? Water bottles with filters are a great way to protect yourself from lurking bacteria. Pure Water 2 Go (www.purewater2go.com) helps filter chlorine, taste and odor. One 16-ounce Level 1 Filter bottle is $7.95 and treats up to 40 gallons of water. Another 16-ounce bottle has a more advanced Level 2 Filter, which treats up to 80 gallons of water and helps remove significant proportions of heavy metals including lead, mercury and copper. Fit N Fresh's LivPure (www.fit-fresh.com) water bottle costs about $9.99 and has the added benefit of anti-microbial protection in the bottle to inhibit bacteria growth.

MOTO W233 Renew

An eco-friendly cell phone? This Motorola phone is actually made with recycled water bottles. The nine-hour talk time capability means less charging time and therefore less energy wasted. In addition, a partnership with Carbonfund.org means that the company offsets the amount of energy needed to produce the phone by investing in carbon-negative programs such as reforestation and renewable energy. Available now from T-Mobile, the Renew costs $9.99 with a two-year service plan. www.motorola.com

Sustainable Beauty in 3 Ounces or Less

Until the TSA lifts its liquid ban, air travelers are still limited to 3-ounce beauty products, so why not invest in a company that also gives back? Coola Lip Lux all-in-one lip treatment is concentrated with organic ingredients and available in SPF 30 and 15 for $12 each. Coola also makes disposable packets of sunscreen that retail for $1.99 for SPF 30 and 45, and donates a portion of its proceeds to the Skin Care Foundation. www.coolasuncare.com

Travel usually means coming into contact with germs, so the Australian-based Fraiss produced a 100-percent vegan product in a recyclable container made out of sugarcane alcohol rather than rubbing alcohol. Pocket size 0.2 fl. oz. Fraiss is $3.50, also available in 1.7 fl. oz. and 15 fl. oz. containers. Fraiss donates proceeds to Just a Drop Foundation, which works to provide clean water systems in developing countries. www.fraiss.com.au

Men can enjoy the Men's Essential Travel Kit from Skin by Monica Olsen, which includes wash and shave, aftershave, night and day cream, antiperspirant and deodorant, lotion, shampoo and conditioner for $34.95. Skin by Monica Olsen donates proceeds to its own alternative energy resource fund and Healthy Child Healthy World. <http://skinbymonica.com>

By Dara Bramson for PeterGreenberg.com.

Want more green gadgets? Check out Virtuous Traveler Leslie Garrett's top Green Travel Gadgets.

More related articles on PeterGreenberg.com:

- Practical or Nonsensical? Travel Gadgets for Health & Safety
- Greenberg-Tested, TSA-Approved Travel Toiletries
- Carbon Offsets: Travel With a Clean Conscience?
- Simple, Eco-nomical Travel Tips from the Virtuous Traveler
- Travel Gadgets for Geeks Under \$100

Share this story:

« April 25 - Hour 2 Swine Flu Outbreak Prompts Worldwide Travel Warnings, Casts Gloom Over Industry »

Leave a Reply

Name

Mail (will not be published)

Website

Submit Comment

PETER GREENBERG
Read Peter's Latest Entry