Got Swine On The Brain? Avoid The Germs No Matter What Animal They Come From

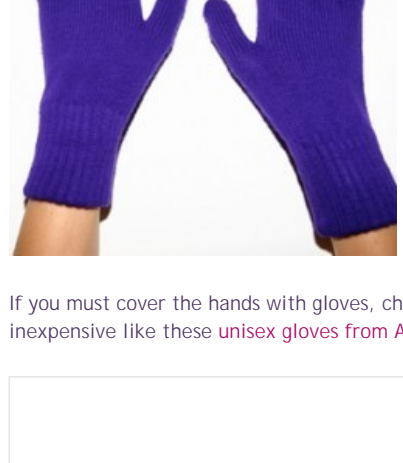

May 01, 2009

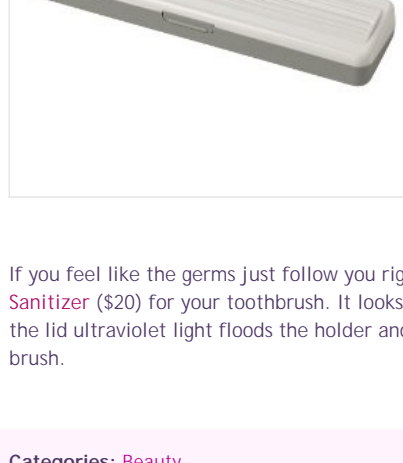

You can't avoid the swine flu news - or photos of Speidi on honeymoon in their mandatory face masks (but that's at least entertaining). We're all caught up in the hype right now and if it's making you want to take extra precaution to fight the germs, we found some products that can help you from getting sick - from pigs or anything else. And until the fashion industry starts churning out those designer face masks, just wear a scarf.

We already told you about pocket-sized hand sanitizer, but if coming into contact with any surface on the subway makes you feel lightheaded, the Transtrap ($14.95) will allow you to ride without issue.

If you must cover the hands with gloves, choose a pair that's relatively lightweight and inexpensive like these unisex gloves from American Apparel ($14).

If you feel like the germs just follow you right on home, check out the UV-C Light Sanitizer ($20) for your toothbrush. It looks like a compact travel box, but when you shut the lid ultraviolet light floods the holder and kills 99% of the germs and bacteria on your brush.

May, Love, SheFinds

May 1: Start off your May with two very seasonal beauty products: Phillip Pelusi BeachComber, an organic styling paste for that windblown, textured effect, and POP Double Duty Bronzer, an oil-controlling, hypoallergenic powder.

May 2: Stop by Olia Designs today for first dibs on their Lucky Elephant pendant. SheFinds readers get 15% off with coupon code SHEFINDS2 until May 16.

May 3: Today is Day 4 of the Gap/Havaianas pop-up shop collaboration in New York. Stop by and pick up a pair of the comfortable flip-flops, or just get one online.

May 4: Kate Moss is hosting the infamous Costume Institute Ball tonight. The theme is Model as Muse; we are not going.

May 6: Zina Beverly Hills launches the summery Abigail shirt today, a white cotton button-down with a comfortable, roomy cut.

May 7: Bravo's Project Runway lookalike, The Fashion Show, debuts tonight. We are sad that it's not Project Runway.

May 8: Green Veranda is getting their stock of Sunshine PETE bags today, made from recycled plastic bottles (25 bottles per yard of fabric, if you must know).

May 9: Lavanilla Healthy Deodorant launched this week: unlike some mass-market brands, it's 100% natural, and aluminum and paraben free.

May 11: Get the latest innovations from Tarte today: multiplEYE, a natural lash enhancer, and celluFIGHT, a self-tanner-###-cellulite treatment.

May 12: Because Bravo started running out of cities and counties in which to recruit Real Housewives, The Real Housewives Of New Jersey debuts tonight. You know I'm watching it anyway.

May 14: Stop by Mamamio to check out Get Waisted, their new slimming cream that packs eight impressive-sounding active ingredients, and caffeine. SPANX in a bottle?

May 15: Foot Petals, makers of various things we stick in our shoes to make them more comfortable, is launching a vegan, recyclable, lightweight flip-flop today called Flexy Feet. It's even machine washable.

May 16: Bath & Body Works came out with Naked Collection from True Blue Spa yesterday; the formulas are meant to be ultra-light for summertime use.

May 17: Tracy Feith's Target capsule collection is available today, online and in-store.

May 20: Hissyfit skin care, a line from Australia that aims to protect, renew and perfect skin, just arrived at Dermstore. The line includes four sun-protecting products, with SPFs ranging from 30 to 50.

May 25: Yes, it's sunscreen season. Bioelements has two new ones, an SPF 50 for face and an SPF 20, available today at Dermstore.

A Concealer For Bad Skin Days That's Actually Good For Your Face

Apr 29, 2009

What: RAW Natural Beauty Perfect Balance Concealer and Highlighter Trio, $38

Why: I'm convinced RAW Natural Beauty's Perfect Balance Concealer and Highlighter Trio is the eco-Wonder Woman of disguise. It does--and masks--everything. Not only is it free of the bad guys (chemical dyes, preservatives, and fragrances), but it packs in all of the good, natural stuff (botanical peptides to firm up any saggage, Brazilian acai extract to smooth wrinkles, and caper berry extract to clear up skin).

Blending the two concealers to perfectly mask any skin discrepancies is super-easy. And, let's not forget the highlighter—it brightens my skin, drawing the attention away from any annoying zit campers who's days are now numbered (thanks to that caper berry).

A Hand Sanitizer To Help You Avoid That Spring Flu That's Going Around...

What: Fraix Pocket Hand Sanitizer, $3.50

Why: With a random, and frightening, flu season upon us, it's just plain smart to stock up on hand sanitizer - especially if you live in the city (or near the Rio Grande). But if you're reaching for the stuff multiple times a day, your hands will start feeling like the Sahara in no time.

Fraix Hand Sanitizer keeps hands soft because it's made of only all-natural oils and sugarcane alcohol. It smells like ginger and orange and comes in an adorable, futuristic-looking tube that fits in your pocket. Yes, killing germs can be luxurious.

I Love The Smell Of Sizzling Lip Balm In The Morning

Apr 28, 2009

What: J&D's Original Bacon Flavored Lip Balm, $4 via [Outblush]

Why: Bacon has been the hottest internet meme for pretty much ever now, leading to increasingly crazy bacon products popping up everywhere. Now the makers of bacon salt and baconnise bring us savory, bacon-flavored lip balm. While I have not actually tried it, I have a hard time imagining that this is any different than simply smearing the leftover bacon grease from Sunday brunch onto my chapped lips. Gross.

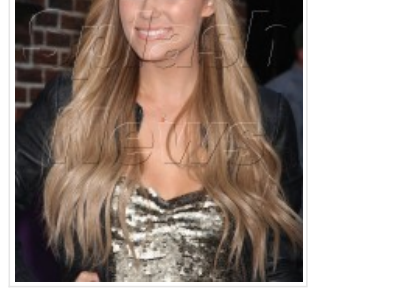

Besides, wouldn't having bacon-flavored lips just be frustrating? Bacon lip balm all but ensures that I'd be dreaming of these while I sadly munched my lunch salad.

And The Celeb With The Best Hair (And Least Successful Clothing Line) Is...

Apr 27, 2009

Which celebrity has the best hair in Hollywood? According to Trendhunter, it's none other than Lauren Conrad. The Hills star was last week's top Yahoo search in the "hair" category, and it's not hard to see why. Her loose, casual waves and center part have timeless appeal and are actually achievable without the help of your own personal Ken Paves.

This style works best on medium to long hair. First, blow dry, then start grabbing individual one-inch sections and mist with hairspray. Pantene's Texturizer ($4.50) works well to separate pieces without weighing hair down. Wrap each section around a large-barrel curling iron—we like Hot Tools Big Bumper 1 1/2" Professional Marcel Hair Curling Iron ($25). Hold for a few seconds, before carefully unclamping and sliding out the hair. Repeat.

The great thing about this style is that it doesn't have to be too perfect (and it actually looks better if it's not).

Check out our Hair at Home Guide for more ways to take care of your locks without the help of a pricey stylist.
